Assignment I0

Tingyi Wang (uni: tw2677)

Part 1:

a. I think the most important topic for beginner is forking and getting update from github. Because in many cases, we need to learn from other's project or get the repository from professor. While this video focus more on creating our own repository.

b. I think the video can show an example about downloading other people's repository, making some changes locally, updating the project but also keep the locally changes when the project owner updates some other information. Also, how to undo the procedures.

c. Right after the last topic will be ok.

Part 2:

https://github.com/pure1017